

Mystery of Sea! A Bomber's Prey?

S. S. NAUSICAA AFIRE IN MEDITERRANEAN

ANOTHER VIEW OF DOOMED MYSTERY SHIP

Silent mystery of the Mediterranean is this—the S. S. Nausicaa, with lifeboats missing, afire off the Spanish coast. Pictures were taken by a member of the crew of the S. S. Exeter, back in Boston today after six weeks' cruise. Was the craft a Spanish bomber's prey? (See story on Page 10.)

Jury Probes Revere Club

Activities and membership of Revere's much-discussed Ruby Club drew attention of Attorney-General Paul A. Dever's "blue ribbon" grand jury today as prosecutors speeded the Revere racket investigation which may bring a score of indictments within the next 24 hours.

Today's first six witnesses called before the jury were all persons connected with the Ruby Club in one capacity or another.

The club was one of two gambling places raided by state police in February, 1932.

Among witnesses ready to be questioned today were eight Revere police officers.

The expected indictments include several members of the police department, high city officials, several business men and at least one alleged racketeer.

Mayor James M. O'Brien already has been indicted as a result of the probe, which followed the slaying of Louis Gaeta, Revere racketeer and bagman.

War Bombs Hit 3 More British Ships

MADRID June 7 (AP)—Three more British merchantmen were seriously damaged today in raids of insurgent warplanes on Mediterranean ports of Alicante and Valencia.

Three bombs dropped by a seaplane hit the freighter Thorpehaven and crippled her badly. Another vessel at Alicante, described only as the "English ship," was set afire.

At Valencia three bombs plunged into the harbor alongside the Thurston and sprung her plates. She started to settle.

The raids raised to 11 the number of ships sunk or badly damaged in a fortnight in insurgent air raids.

Gillette's renomination, over the opposition of what was called an "inner circle" of the New Deal, was conceded early today by the camp of Rep. Otha D. Wearin, who ran with the endorsement of WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

With more than half the ballots counted, it appeared that Gillette had polled more than 50 per cent of the total Democratic vote against four other candidates, and had approached a 5 to 3 lead over Wearin.

Returns from 1845 of the state's 2447 precincts gave: Gillette, 63,537; Wearin, 34,989; Byrnhoff, 4470; Meyers, 14,058; Richardson, 7829.

Japs Again Bomb Canton

CANTON, China, June 7 (AP)—Japan's warplanes bombarded this terrorized South China city three times today and swelled the toll of dead and wounded, which had reached 6000 since the punishing series of raids began 11 days ago.

The third raid was made by moonlight, beginning at 8:30 p. m. (7:30 a. m., E. S. T.), and incendiary bombs were dropped in northern sections of the city.

Canton, including the foreign settlement on Shameen Island, was without electric light or power tonight. During an afternoon raid nine bombs plunged into the compound of the power station and water works near Shameen, putting the power station out of commission.

Twenty civilians were killed on Honam Island, separated from Canton city by the Pearl River.

MANY CAUGHT IN JAM

The first raid came soon after dawn when Japanese planes for 10 minutes bombed the congested Tungsan and Saichuen districts.

Local Chinese authorities have ordered all women and children to leave the city. Thoroughs have gathered at railway stations and along the waterfront, patiently awaiting transport. Facilities are entirely inadequate to handle the exodus.

More than 100,000 already have fled to British Hongkong; many more have sought refuge in the interior or in points farther south.

Canton has drawn Japan's air attacks because it is the gateway for most of China's imported supplies.

(In Shanghai a Japanese navy spokesman declared Japan would continue bombings of Canton and Hankow because of their military importance. He denied they were undefended cities.)

After an early morning foray the Japanese fliers returned this afternoon, and methodically bombed government offices and the railroad line to Hankow, provisional seat of the government.

Both Britain and France protested the repeated air attacks.

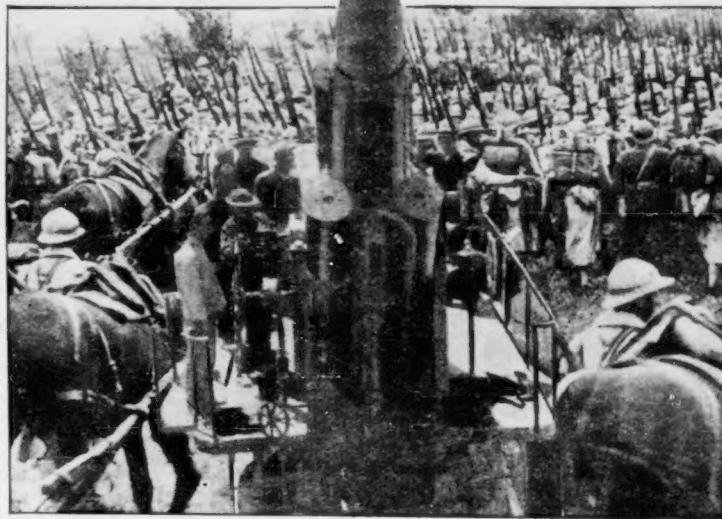

In Paris, a French foreign ministry spokesman disclosed the French ambassador to Tokyo, Charles Arsene Henry, had made a double protest in Tokyo.

Norway Also Joins Bombings Protest

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Norway today joined Sweden in accepting Great Britain's invitation to take part in a proposed international commission to investigate bombings in Spain.

The United States, only other country invited to join Britain in the undertaking, was said to be giving "sympathetic attention" to the proposal, but has made no final reply. Sweden announced acceptance of the invitation last night.

Orient Peace Plan Favored

By GEORGE RUTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 7—Immediate peace with honor between Japan and China, on the basis of a non-aggression pact, arrested the close interest of congressional and other leaders today.

As contained in a dispatch to the Hearst newspapers from Paris by the dean of American war correspondents, Karl H. Von Wiegand, the suggestion was regarded as many influential quarters as a valuable contribution to the cause not alone of peace in the Orient, but to the larger cause of world peace.

Secretary of State Hull examined Von Wiegand's proposal, but said he had no comment to make.

MANY IN FAVOR

General endorsement of the suggestion came, however, from influential leaders of both parties.

In Congress, Senator Borah, ranking Republican member of the Senate foreign relations committee, approved of the suggestion. He said:

"Everybody would like to see peace in the Orient, and everybody would like to see the move made on the part of the combatants. In my opinion that is the only way it can be brought about in the existing circumstances."

Representative McReynolds (D.) of Tennessee, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, had this comment to make:

"If the proposal should be adopted by China and Japan, it would have much to do with restoration of peace throughout the world. I am fearful, however, that the war has become so embittered there is little hope for the countries to take such action."

"No one can controvert that the termination of hostilities and the restoration of peace in China is highly desirable. Whether this is the time for the offering of good offices and conciliation it is difficult to say."

"The idea of Mr. Von Wiegand raises an interesting point. It will stand considerable pondering."

Japan, China Seal Alliances

LONDON, June 7 (INS)—Diplomatic reports today indicated that both Japan and China are drawing closer to their respective allies to aid them in the Far Eastern war.

It was understood in some London circles that Japan has reached a secret understanding to give Germany economic concessions in China in return for withdrawal of German military advisers from the Chinese armies.

In Tokyo the Domei (Japanese) News Agency told of information that the nine-point agreement between China and Soviet Russia has been signed.

Girl Faces 2nd Suitcase Baby Death Charge

While 27-year-old Catherine Ferguson sat morosely in her cell at East Cambridge Jail, Natick police today moved to obtain a second complaint charging her with concealing the death of an infant.

Discovery in Milford of the body of an infant, the second baby allegedly found packed away in the young woman's possessions within two days, brought the move for the new charge.

Police Chief Thomas F. Evans of Natick said he would bring an additional charge against Miss Ferguson when she appears at the hearing in district court next Friday on the first complaint.

CHECKING GIRL'S LIFE

At the same time authorities disclosed they were conducting an investigation of the life of the young woman covering several years.

Police Chief John J. Moloney of Milford, who said he had turned the "entire matter" over to Natick authorities, also declared that Medical Examiner John V. Gallagher would report on his autopsy on the second infant later today.

"A second examination is necessary," Chief Moloney declared.

Miss Ferguson was held in $2000 in district court yesterday. Her arrest followed discovery of a baby's body in a suitcase in a closet of a Natick house where she had lived until recently.

SECOND BODY FOUND

The second little body was found in a trunk at the home in Carroll street, Milford, where she had been living only three weeks. The first child was believed to have been born four years ago.

The second find was made by her new employer, John Bonetti, who said he became suspicious concerning a trunk she brought from Natick.

Girl's Character Worth $50,000?

MADISON, Ct., June 7 (INS).—Mrs. Charlotte "Chetty" Milburn Cheeseborough, of New York today valued the "defamation of her character" at $50,000.

This is twice the amount Mrs. Katherine Wright is asking from the 24-year-old heiress in an alienation of affections suit, charging her with theft of Wright's love.

In her suit, the fourth is being filed in connection with the troubled careers of the trio, the heiress alleges her character was defamed by Mrs. Wright in statements following the arrest of the husband, John B. Wright, aboard his 24-foot cruiser in Long Island Sound in connection with a shooting incident.

NEW YORK, June 7 (INS).—Mrs. Helen Fortesque Reynolds demands $2000-a-month alimony, $7500 counsel fees and custody of their year-old son today in her separation suit against Julian Louis Reynolds, tobacco heir.

Belief that the body of a woman found floating off Boothbay Harbor, Me., may be that of Mrs. Corolla Bond, 69, of Buffalo, N. Y., missing from the S. S. Evangeline when it docked here May 9, was expressed by authorities today.

When the Evangeline arrived here from Yarmouth, Mrs. Bond's baggage and personal effects were found in her cabin.

Anne's Bridal Ring Platinum

John Roosevelt has ordered his wedding ring for Anne Lindsay Clark from New York, but friends of the President's future daughter-in-law who have been invited to the brilliant nuptials, June 18, are buying their luxurious gifts for the bride in Boston stores.

This was learned today as exclusive shops kept close at hand a list not only of what Anne likes in the way of silverware, glass and china but also a list of what has already been sent to the Clark home in Nahant.

Check of the purchased gifts is kept so that there will be a minimum of duplication. Bridal guests are told by the stores exactly what Anne has received and then advised what would be most to her taste.

PLATINUM RING

Presents were pouring into the Clark home today. Most treasured of them was a beautiful silver service set sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The wedding ring, it was learned, will be a band of square-cut diamonds set in platinum.

It is believed Anne will present jeweled pins to her six bridesmaids and maids of honor.

POSE FOR PHOTOS

The Clarks are doing no entertaining this week. By Saturday they will be ready for the hectic week of wedding rehearsals. John and Anne will pose for photographers this afternoon, and on Saturday they will receive the press.

Arrangements are being made by the Nahant selectmen to care for 150 to 200 out-of-town press representatives from over the United States and Canada during the ceremony. European papers have also put in requisitions for accommodations for their representatives.

'Antis' Aiding Reds' Religious War

(This is the third of a series of articles revealing the Communists' plan to bring about strife between religious sects in the United States.)

EDWARD J. HUNTER

By JOHN BRADFORD MAIN
Boston Evening American Staff Writer

"Seeking to set class against class, race against race, religion against religion, this Commission conceives to be definitely subversive to the American form of government."

That is the statement of the special commission that has been investigating Communism and other "isms" in Massachusetts.

Communism being from within to create religious hatreds, the report reveals, spreads outwards in ever-widening circles. It encourages other un-American "anti" organizations and propaganda.

Oddly enough, some of these "anti" movements are, or pretend to be, quite "anti-Communist." The Communists don't care. All is grief that comes to their mill. They are quite willing to see "anti-Communist" movements springing up that (poor fools!) will do their work for them, sowing the seed of religious strife.

It is for this reason that the Communists deliberately have fostered and encouraged the popular superstition that "all Jews are Communists" and that Jews lead the Communist party. This, they believe, will encourage "Christian" hatred of the Jews.

HAVE NO RELIGION

As a matter of fact, no leader of the Communist movement in America is a Jew. In Soviet Russia, no important member of "the party" has any religion whatever.

Josef Stalin, world's No. 1 Communist, is a Russian Georgian whose family intended him for the Greek Orthodox priesthood.

Earl Browder, No. 1 Communist in America, is of American colonial ancestry.

The only "real Jew" who ever rose to prominence in Communist circles—Leon Trotsky—is an exile in Mexico.

"Atheism," says Lenin, "is a . . . inseparable part of Marxism, of the theory and practice of scientific Socialism."

"We Communists," says Browder, "do not distinguish between good and bad religions, because we think they all are bad for the masses."

Of Jews and Judaism, the following is "Religion in the U. S. S. R.," by E. Yaroslavsky, president of the League of Militant Atheists of the Soviet Union, an official arm of the Moscow government:

"What about the Jewish religion? It is of very great value to the Jewish capitalists who, with the help of the rabbis and the ancient 'sacred' Hebrew tongue, which throws glamour over their innumerable nummeries, hold the people in bondage."

OTHERS ATTACKED

"All the other religions perform similar services for their respective capitalist masters."

Again, Yaroslavsky says—

"The priests of every cult have their own way of deluding the masses—the Jewish rabbi, the Roman Catholic priest, the Moslem imam, the Hindu Brahmin, the Buddhist monk, the evangelist, Baptist and other ministers of religion, each has his own way of fooling the people."

"With their silly tales they stupefy their brains as opium stupefies and poisons the unfortunate opium smoker. This is why the greatest thinkers and minds of our time cannot find words more apt for defining religion than those used by Karl Marx, who called religion the opium of the people."

But the record shows, just as the Communists are quite willing nowadays to identify themselves with various church movements so as to "bore from within" in creating religious dissension and hatreds, so are they, equally, willing to be CALLED Jews and to have people THINK they are Jews and that "all Jews are Communists," if that will fan the flame of anti-Semitism.

How they are thus able even to make tools of "anti-Communist" organizations is evidenced in the "isms" commission's report on one "anti-Communist" organization here in Boston—the "Industrial Defense Association Inc.," headed by one Edward H. Hunter.

This organization, the records

LEON TROTSKY

Only Jewish Red Leader

show, is incorporated in Massachusetts "to inculcate the principles of Americanism and oppose Socialism and Communism among the people of the United States."

'VICIOUS ACTIVITY'

Yet the "isms" commission, in its report, calls the work of this association:

"The most vicious activity, clearly intended to incite racial and religious hatred . . ."

The report continues: "It was sometime after its incorporation that Hunter adopted and caused the Industrial Defense Association to be the exponent of the slogan."

"Communism and Judaism are inseparable."

"With the pursuit of this whole sale indictment of the Jewish race as the policy of the association, those genuinely patriotic, civic-minded citizens who had supported a drive against Communism and for the defense of American government withdrew from the . . . Association."

"At the present time in Hunter's publications, anti-Semitism overshadows exposure of Communism."

"With the same distortions and fabrications of Nazi writers . . . Mr. Hunter . . . presents contempt-inspiring portrayal of the Jewish race."

Hunter's association, the commission report charges, "has been a consistent importer of subversive pamphlets from foreign sources for distribution in this Commonwealth."

"While they are ostensibly to fight the Communists, these writers and promoters go far beyond their stated objects to condemn without exception every member of the Jewish race as being one and all degenerates, dishonest, plotters against our government, and seeking to establish a Soviet dictatorship," the report states.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Joseph Padway, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor, will arrive in San Francisco next Monday to combat Communism in the Pacific coast area, it was announced today by Edward D. Vandeleur, secretary of the California State Federation of Labor.

"I am advised by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that California is considered one of the political battle grounds between legitimate labor and the CIO-Communist-controlled groups."

"I am further advised that we intend to strongly oppose subversive tendencies on this coast, which happens to be a hotbed of radicalism," Vandeleur said.

The blonde and beautiful witness is reported to be the fiancée of a German soldier now serving his two-year compulsory training in Adolf Hitler's army.

Twice last week Miss Boehme testified before the U. S. grand jury which already has indicted several persons in connection with the spy ring.

Fr. Cox Fears N. Y. Red Rule

Citizens fighting to save New York from Red domination gained inspiration from Massachusetts' probe of Communistic activities, declared the Rev. Ignatius W. Cox, S. J., of Fordham University at Boston College's alumni celebration.

Warning that New York may become "the Barcelona of America," Father Cox painted a vivid picture of the growing control of Communists over the city's labor ranks.

"The movement threatens to carry everything before it, but we Catholics refuse the proffered hand—it is war to the knife!"

Father Cox said. "The time may come when another shot may be heard around the world. Let us hope it will be a peaceful shot. But peaceful or not, Catholic New England, as Puritan New England of old, will save American ideals for America."

More than 1000 alumni heard the address of Father Cox, who, as faculty director of Fordham's school of labor, is considered the outstanding spokesman of the Society of Jesus on questions of political economy. He formerly taught philosophy at Boston College.

Communists of New York are trying to embrace the Catholics in a popular front for the defense of democracy, he stated, and have been partially successful in gaining control of labor.

"We appreciate the fearless investigation of Communistic activi-

M. I. T. Gives 581 Degrees

President Karl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology today awarded a total of 581 degrees to 548 candidates—including seven young women—as the 71st class was graduated in ceremonies at Symphony Hall.

During the notable event in college commencement activities in New England, the graduates were advised by President Compton:

"Engage in some activity whose objective is not your own advancement, but rather is directed to some altruistic purpose that is more important to the world than your own self-interest."

DR. MAGINNIS SPEAKER

Dr. Charles D. Maginnis, prominent Boston architect and president of the American Institute of Architects, was the commencement speaker before nearly 2000 relatives and friends of the graduates.

Pleading that beauty be retained in modern steel construction, Dr. Maginnis declared that steel "has little genius for romance" and "cannot make for interesting ruins."

One of the woman graduates, Miss Rose E. Lunn, of Los Angeles, was awarded a master of science degree for advanced work in aeronautical engineering.

WOMEN GET DEGREES

Greater Boston young women receiving other degrees included Miss Margaret K. Seikel of Waltham, Miss Jeanne P. Rubenstein of Boston, and Miss Virginia B. Marston of Winchester.

President Compton announced that the institute had received additional gifts totaling $2,988,742 during the past year.

Commencement programs in other colleges include the following:

Boston College

Chief Justice Arthur Prentice Togg of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, one of the nation's outstanding jurists, will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the Boston College commencement exercises tomorrow afternoon.

This was verified by Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S. J., dean of Boston College, in a talk with the Boston Evening American today.

It will be fifth degree bestowed upon the venerable jurist by leading educational institutions in Massachusetts. Amherst, his alma mater, so honored him in 1908. Harvard in 1914, Boston University in 1923 and Williams in 1924.

A graduate of Amherst and Boston University, Justice Togg was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1886. Subsequently he served as president of the Worcester Common Council, assistant district attorney of Worcester county, Worcester city solicitor, and was appointed to the Supreme Court bench in 1906. He was named Chief Justice in 1911.

Last Big Money Bill to House

WASHINGTON, June 7 (INS)—The final big money bill of the present session of Congress—a $272,516,979 deficiency appropriations measure which includes funds to launch the great naval program—was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

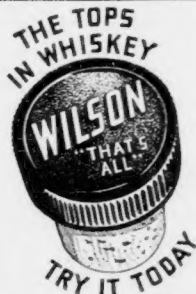

Sen. Walsh Wage Bill Beaten

WASHINGTON, June 7 (INS)—Hailed as a temporary victory for the South, Senate conferees today accepted compromise wage-and-hour legislation which eliminates rigid standards of minimum pay and a maximum work week.

The compromise, sponsored by the congressional Southern bloc, was approved by the conferees, 4 to 3, following threats of a filibuster against rigid wage-hours standards. Submitted by Senators Ellender (D.) of Louisiana and Pepper (D.) of Florida, the compromise bill would:

1—Initiate a 25 cents minimum wage at the start, to be raised to 30 cents the second year, and thereafter industrial boards, similar to the NRA code authorities, would be appointed to recommend raising the minimum pay standard to 40 cents, wherever possible.

In adopting the southern compromise, the Senate turned down a composite bill sponsored by Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts and Thomas (D.) of Utah, carrying ultimate rigid requirements for a 40-cent standard.

Lodge Assails 'Hitler Tactics' By Deal Leaders

WASHINGTON, June 7—Refusing to let the Senate's "Hitler tactics" silence him, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge today pushed efforts to broaden social security benefits for aged persons.

His rights of free speech on the Senate floor were deliberately denied by New Deal strategy, Senator Lodge charged as he sought to amend the administration's spending-lending bill and provide more funds for the aged.

"I have only just begun to fight," the Senator declared.

"The Senate majority Hitlerized me when they cut off my rights of free speech on the Senate floor."

"I suppose it is all right to talk five solid days and nights on the anti-lynching bill, but you can't talk 45 minutes about old-age benefits."

Discussion of Lodge's amendment to the spending bill was immediately cut off when Senate leaders, in a strategic move, made a motion to table his proposal. Debate ended automatically when the motion was made.

Lodge asserted that his cause is a righteous one and "it will eventually prevail."

"Old age money must be given to those for whom it is intended—the old people—and it must not be used for the general purposes of the government," he said.

Battle of Barn Costs $2000

BROCKTON, June 7—A $400 barn went to West Bridgewater at a cost of $2000, leaving a trail of debris-strewn streets, as David Minsky won the last round of his barn-moving battle with the city today.

In a protracted fight with city and power company officials, Minsky held on to moving permits which had been granted him before the board of aldermen realized the cost.

Limbs fell and wires snapped while eight horses and two trucks jerked the ancient barn two miles from Spring street in Brockton to West Bridgewater.

Miles of wires were loosened to let the structure pass. Poles had to be moved on one street. Along the way residents protested vainly as branches were broken from historic elms.

Air Horror World Peril

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Dean of American War Correspondents

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

PARIS, June 7—The savage, barbarous air raids in Spain and China, killing and maiming thousands of helpless civilians, present the mildest picture of the destruction of lives and monuments of civilization likely to rain from the sky in the event of a conflict among Europe's major powers.

There should be a line drawn to limit civilized savagery in the Twentieth Century. But who will draw it and how will it be enforced in a world where every nation thinks it can save its own skin best by minding its own business?

One of the main obstacles to stopping air raids is that the military conception of war has changed completely.

NEW "VICTORY" MEANING

The Italian Aviation General Douhet, regarded by many as the foremost air strategist and whose teachings are known and studied by every air ministry, says:

"To be victorious does not mean any more to chase the enemy out of his position and occupy it yourself. The word 'victory' I always understand to mean the forcing or imposing of your will upon the enemy. To break the will of the enemy nation, every means is justifiable."

Douhet's doctrine is that the will power of an enemy nation must be paralyzed and that war must be conducted against the morale of the people as well as against material resistance. He declares that bombing planes are proper weapons with which to accomplish that.

Colonel Attilio Mattioli, of the Italian air force writing in the Italian Aeronautical Journal, includes great dams, bursting of which would create enormous havoc, as proper objectives of an air war. He even recommends that a special torpedo bomb be made for attacking such dams. For instance, Boulder Dam would be an example.

BOMBERS BIG DANGER

This is only a small glimpse into the most modern of air strategy, mirroring a radical change in the military ideas in which the civil population, rather than the armies, become the main targets and objectives in what the militarists like to call a "totalitarian war."

One might say that the conduct of war has become poisoned by these doctrines. There is only one effective means of protecting tens of thousands of civilians and preventing their deaths in another war.

That is the complete abolition of the bomber. But how will outlawing of the bomber be enforced?

Shoe Season Seen Opening Cautiously

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

The shoe industry is approaching the period of usual seasonal expansion in a somewhat dubious frame of mind, according to what we hear and read of current opinions by trade leaders. However, such an attitude is normal and hardly cause for pessimism following such a long period of curtailment.

Buyers who must ever fall need usually do so in a fairly liberal way during late June and July and who can blame them if they pursue a cautious policy under current consumption conditions. They naturally want to wait and see just what the fall does hold in store for retailers.

Personally we think that the combination of reduced prices and real expenditure will bring in the buyers. In regard to the latter it is a matter of record that when huge outlays were last undertaken

Haney Sees New Delay In Recovery

By LEWIS HANEY

(Professor of Economics New York University)

NEW YORK, June 7.—Business activity has been edging lower. The general picture is that of a cyclical decline which has passed the rapid slump stage, and has begun to slow up as the stabilization level draws near.

Under other circumstances, this position would be encouraging; for a cyclical recovery would be but a few months off. Now, however, the outlook is neither so clear nor so hopeful. The air is full of uncertainty, and nothing kills business more surely than that.

There is a growing feeling that the nation is in for a long period of rather blind social experiments. For some time yet, these experiments will be guided by radical politicians, therefore, while we may be sure that eventually order, honesty, and common sense will prevail, for the present the savings of the thrifty and the earnings of superior ability are not safe.

One important indication of this condition is seen in the strategy of the demagogues who dominate our politics. They now seem willing to accept the fact of business depression, and to shoulder responsibility for dealing with another "emergency."

Apparently, they think that enough voters will not hold them responsible for their failure in preventing depression to allow them to get away with their pump-priming act once again.

At the least, we will probably have to wait until November before there will be enough certainty to enable business to go ahead.

Meanwhile, it would seem that there will be a sufficient scattering of our currency (government credit) among farmers and urban relief recipients, to prevent a collapse of buying and selling. Certainly, the spirit of government spending will be turned wide open before November.

Unfortunately, this general situation in the world, and we find in Europe little hope of help toward early recovery here. English business is probably in a cyclical recession, with a badly unbalanced foreign trade. French radicals are still influential enough to prevent any return of sound finances or business confidence in their country.

had started at English High school promptly at 9:30, swung down Boylston street and turned up Tremont past the mayor's stand.

KELLY GIVES SALUTE

When the head of the cadet column reached the head of Park street and wheeled smartly past the State House, Governor Hurley and his military escort had not yet appeared on the reviewing stand.

But Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly, himself a former English high school cadet, was present to return the salute of the boy officers.

Then, while the parade was still passing, the governor arrived.

MISSES B. C. SONG

With him were Charles O. Holt, sergeant-at-arms; Major William Harrison, an aide; Lieutenant Charles E. Clavier, also an aide; Sergeant John Donevan of the Governor's staff and former Fire Commissioner John F. McLaughlin.

An engagement at Technology obliged Governor Hurley to leave the stand again before the colorful, two-hour parade spectacle was over.

He missed a special tribute paid him by the Roslindale high school band, which crashed out the strains of the Boston College song, "For Boston," in recognition of the fact that the governor is a Boston College alumnus.

37 IN COMPETITIONS

Lieut.-Gov. Kelly was left to preside at the reviewing stand—and it was an especially snappy "eyes right" he received from the cadets of his alma mater, English High.

U. S. army officers stationed along the line of march inspected the young paraders for military smartness and general bearing and appearance.

Competing for coveted prizes were companies from 14 high schools and 22 intermediate schools.

If there was one of the 17,000 cadets whose girl friend wasn't on hand to watch him he could console himself with the thought that other feminine spectators were out in record number.

Today's parade was headed by Richard M. Thurston, colonel of the Hyde Park High school cadets, since Hyde Park High school won first prize among last year's marchers.

Iowa Vote Hits New Deal Purge

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 7 (INS)—The campaign to "purge" the Democratic party of those members of Congress who are not 100 per cent New Dealers received a decided set-back today as a result of the Iowa primary, in which Senator Guy M. Gillette won renomination over young Otha D. Wearin.

Although President Roosevelt personally kept out of the Iowa battle, and both candidates proclaimed loyalty to him, Wearin's candidacy was, nevertheless, fully endorsed by Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, and it had also a somewhat left-handed endorsement from James Roosevelt, the President's son.

Young Roosevelt's participation in the primary consisted of sending a telegram in which he referred to "my friend Otha Wearin." Apparently it had little effect.

The outcome in Iowa was distinctly heartening to a number of Democratic senators who are lining up for renomination and whose records are "vulnerable" when measured by the New Deal yardstick.

They are Senator Clark in Missouri, Senator George in Georgia, Senator McCarran in Nevada, Senator Tydings in Maryland, and Senator Van Nuys in Indiana.

What impressed the politicians more than Gillette's victory was the size of the Republican vote, in which ex-Senator L. J. Dickinson, who keynoted the Republican convention of 1932, was a victor over Representative Lloyd Thurston.

The Democratic vote was light in comparison to the Republican. On the basis of the vote, the Republicans were inclined today to claim the recapture of a Senate seat in Iowa in the November election.

The WPA vote in Iowa apparently had little effect, notwithstanding Hopkins' endorsement of the youthful Wearin. Anti-New Deal Democrats who are up for reelection have been "gravely deploring" what they described as the attempted reorganization of the relief vote through Hopkins' endorsement.

Hamilton Sees Vote as Slap at White House

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican National Committee said today Senator Gillette's victory in Iowa's primary can only be interpreted as a slap by Democrats of Iowa at White House interference in local contests.

Simultaneously Senator Wheeler, whom Gillette killed in fighting the Roosevelt court bill last year, said his nomination "was a vindication for Democracy and a repudiation of the Roosevelt administration."

What of This, Mr. Hopkins?

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Secretary Wallace pledged his "wholehearted support" to Senator Gillette (D.), of Iowa, today and urged all Iowa Democrats and Republicans who favor Roosevelt policies to work for his reelection.

of Washington back-seat drivers. "Their attempt to pack the court failed and their attempt to pack the Senate will fail," Wheeler added.

Hamilton's statement, in which he referred to Gillette as a "New Dealer," said that "had the President's left-hand adviser, Thomas Corcoran; his son, James, and his relief administrator, Harry Hopkins, remained out of the Iowa fight Mr. Wearin might have made a better showing."

"His crushing defeat is a well-merited rebuke to the Roosevelt administration for its shameful attempt to play politics with relief," Hamilton continued.

Kelly Seeks 'Showdown' On Rumors

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly today called upon U. S. Senator David I. Walsh and former Governor Joseph B. Ely to make their positions clear in the coming Democratic primary.

The lieutenant-governor, candidate for governor against Governor Hurley said:

"I feel that both Senator Walsh and former Governor Ely should now state to the people of Massachusetts their position in this coming Democratic primary contest for governor because of current reports implying that they will support my opponent, the present governor."

Kelly's statement came as an aftermath of reports that followed a 30-minute conference former Governor Ely had with Governor Hurley and a dinner party at the Hurley home, at which Senator Walsh was a guest.

Strikeless Union Wins State O. K.

State job-holders were notified today by Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance, that they have the right to organize and bargain collectively.

A condition, however, is that whatever organization they form or join must accept the principle that state workers cannot participate in a strike.

M'Neil Wins Deal O. K. in Ct.

HARTFORD, Ct., June 7 (INS)

—Archibald McNeil, of Bridgeport, former Democratic national committeeman and friend of President Roosevelt, was being booted today for the United States Senate by a group of Hartford Democrats.

The office is now held by Senator Augustine Lonergan, who seeks the Democratic renomination. Lonergan, considered a conservative Democrat, opposed both the reorganization bill and the court reform bill.

Gillette, New Deal Foe, Sweeps Iowa Primary

ators to face an election test on that issue, Senator Gillette won his overwhelming victory on the flat declaration that he would never turn into a "blindfolded" legislator, committed to support administration legislation.

CLAIM DEAL DID IT

All of his opponents had pledged "100 per cent co-operation" with the administration. Red-necked Congressman Wearin had claimed wholehearted New Deal support, and often referred to a telegram in which James Roosevelt, son of the President, called Wearin "my friend."

On the Republican side, white-haired former Senator Lester J. Dickinson, "Hell Raisin' Dick" to his constituents and for years a most outspoken New Deal critic, piled up a comfortable lead for the G. O. P. senatorial nomination.

The vote of 1933 precincts gave Dickinson 117,908, Thurston 90,127.

This would make Dickinson, who brooks no compromise with New Deal theories, and Gillette, who voted for most important New Deal measures other than the court bill, opponents in the fall election.

The volume of Republican voting continued substantially ahead of the Democratic vote. Dickinson and Thurston shared 207,135 votes, while the five Democratic aspirants received 124,593 votes.

Although Democrats were split into warring state and federal camps during the campaign, with the state administration supporting Gillette, the schism apparently was not irreparable.

J. Don Kerlin, Wearin's campaign manager, this morning sent Gillette a telegram stating:

"Congratulations! Yours is a splendid victory. Be assured of fullest support in the fall."

In his home in Cherokee, Senator Gillette said today:

"The result will give that left wing group, which started out to control the party nomination in 1940, a very great incentive to stop and think things over."

"My candidacy has become a symbol of resentment against a well-planned attempt by a group outside the state to dictate to Iowa Democrats whom they should send to Washington."

"This plan would have subverted the Constitutional right of a people to be represented in Congress by those of their own choosing."

"I happen to be the candidate against whom the plan was made. I happen to be the first senator coming up for renomination of the group which had voted against the court reorganization. I think that was the genesis of this plan to which I referred."

The senator added that he did not plan "reprisals."

Sedan Clue In Poet Killing

WORCESTER, June 7—New clues, involving a gray sedan and two men, turned police today on a new angle in the park slaying of Thomas F. O'Connell, 32-year-old love poet.

By a Worcester taxi driver, investigators were told that O'Connell, at 2 a. m. Sunday, was seen talking with a man beside the gray sedan in Lincoln square. Another man was in the car.

About 15 minutes later, the poet and the man, who carried a small package under one arm, started walking along Grove street toward Institute Park. They appeared engrossed in conversation.

DESCRIPTS STRANGER
The taxi driver told police he would recognize the stranger again. He was about 32 years old, five feet seven inches tall and weighed from 135 to 140 pounds.

Two more witnesses have been found who saw a gray sedan, believed to be the same car, in Park avenue at the entrance to Institute Park, where O'Connell's battered body later was found.

There was one man then in the car and the investigators' theory is that he was waiting for his companion to come out of the park.

HANDKERCHIEF CLUE
A blood-stained handkerchief that the killer either accidentally dropped or deliberately threw away may place him into the electric chair's shadow, it was said by police today.

The handkerchief was found a few minutes after Medical Examiner John Ward had branded as "ridiculous" a theory that O'Connell might have been the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Taken to police headquarters the handkerchief was examined carefully for laundry marks and, according to police, a black blurred figure on one corner may be an identification tag of a Worcester laundry.

With the finding of the handkerchief, which had lain in the field unnoticed since the finding of O'Connell's body early Sunday, Captain John J. Gallagher ordered a detail of detectives into Institute Park to make a further search for other clues.

Captain Gallagher today expressed the opinion O'Connell had literally talked himself into his own fatal slaying.

Miss Grace O'Connell, a sister of the slain man, said O'Connell met death on the eve of a trip to Cape Cod where he planned a summer holiday to regain his health. For months O'Connell had been in poor physical condition and had decided only a week ago to go to Hawthorn to rest.

Saw Sea Mystery

IN MEDITERRANEAN—Mrs. Jessie E. Wright of New York (left) and Mrs. Frederick Schneider of Longmeadow arrive back in Boston today aboard the S. S. Exeter, after their exciting adventure in the Mediterranean, where they saw the deserted S. S. Nausicaa burn in mystery.

Liner in Port With Story of Ship's Bombing

Bringing a story of a mystery of the sea, the American Export liner Exeter, from Mediterranean ports, arrived back in Boston today after a six weeks' cruise.

Passengers and crew still wondered over the fate of those who had been aboard a blazing tanker, sighted by Exeter at 6:15 on May 28, off the coast of Majorca, in Spanish waters.

Lifboats were missing from the tanker Nausicaa, whose position was near an air base of Spain's warring forces, and the theory of those on board Exeter is that the tanker was bombed. It flew a Greek flag, although registered as a French craft.

NO SURVIVORS FOUND

According to Exeter's purser, Frederick H. Riker, the radio man attempted to raise other ships and learn the fate of the tanker's crew. One vessel replied she had sighted two empty lifboats, but other vessels contacted said they had seen nothing of boats or survivors.

There was plainly no one aboard the fiercely burning Nausicaa, it was said by Riker.

An hour after sighting the burning craft an airplane was seen high in the sky near the position.

When Exeter docked in Boston, Detectives Patrick J. Flannery and John Connell of police headquarters took off Kaiman T. Taggart of Brooklyn, N. Y., on a fugitive warrant.

HONEYMOONERS' LAND

Arrest was on request of New York police, who hold a warrant charging Kaiman with second degree forgery. Boston police had radioed the ship a request that Kaiman be confined in its cabin.

Exeter landed 13 of her 64 passengers here, among them Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wright of New York, who are completing a 13-week honeymoon.

Wright, who does publicity with his father, for Egypt and Czechoslovakia, said he was in Rome during Hitler's recent visit and it was evident the "man in the street" in Italy—such as he questioned—does not care for Hitler and believes the alliance between Italy and Germany is an unnatural one.

Among other passengers landing here were Mrs. Marie L. Schneider of Longmeadow and Mrs. Jessie Wright of Baltimore.

Italy Prince, Beauty to Wed

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—The Italian consul general's office announced today that Prince Don Guido Colonna Di Paliano, Italian vice consul at Toronto, would be married here tomorrow to Miss Tatiana Conus, daughter of the late Gules Conus, musician and composer.

The prince, excited at publication of a story which said his romance almost was wrecked by his fiancée's lack of a large dowry, stomped about the consul general's office while the announcement was being prepared.

He refused to comment on a New York Daily News story saying the wedding date had been twice postponed because Mussolini's foreign minister, Count Ciano, withheld approval.

"Love matches with purse-poor beauties get the official scowl," the story said.

Last Saturday, King Emanuel heard of the affair, the Daily News said, and cabled his approval.

CRASH KILLS 2 COWS

MERRIMACK, N. H., June 7 (AP)—Two cows were killed today when a truck laden with cattle left the Daniel Webster highway, cut off two telegraph poles, crashed into a stone wall and overturned.

Man Collapses At Court Hearing

An unidentified elderly man collapsed in Supreme Court today as Justice Henry T. Lummus began a hearing of a petition to transfer funds for the relief of the families of soldiers who served at the Mexican border in 1915 to the American Red Cross.

The petition was brought against the attorney general by A. C. Ratchesky, a member of the committee appointed by former Governor McCall to administer the fund.

The attorney general did not contest the petition and Judge Lummus granted the transfer. The fund now will be used for the relief of the families of all United States soldiers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 7 (INS)—Newspapers are the best single medium for bank advertising, Lewis F. Gordon, Atlanta bank executive, today told the 36th annual convention of the American Institute of Banking.

"Bank service and relations affect every one in the community, directly or indirectly," said Gordon, who is assistant vice-president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta.

"All these people read newspapers and therefore your newspapers are the blanket medium to cover the greatest number of people at the least possible cost."

Elaborate Clark-Roosevelt Wedding Details

As people realize the endless amount of detail required to make a wedding as large and not too as that of the nation's number one society, Mrs. Clark and John Roosevelt.

Government press representatives have been conferring with Boston newspapers for several weeks, discussing which reports and photographs will be allowed to appear in the ceremony.

Since transient traffic will be cut off from the peninsula of Nantucket on the day of the wedding, accredited newspapermen and newspaper photographers assigned to the story will have to pass by the guard of state police guarding Nantucket.

Even the select few invited to the wedding will have to show their invitations to prove that they are on the list of those privileged to witness the year's outstanding wedding ceremony.

H. MARTHA LEE

So, what makes the system work? As usual, we go to the people who have been the most successful.

What you want to find out is if there's a kind of magic why they have done well, a "secret sauce." It's the question of whether and how a distribution of income can be a good distribution for a top-down economy. There are two ways to think about this. On the one hand, you can think about it in terms of the distribution of income. On the other hand, you can think about it in terms of the distribution of income.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is a continuous function and that it satisfies the differential equation $f'(x) = f(x)$. The solution of this equation is $f(x) = Ce^x$, where C is a constant. The value of C is determined by the initial condition $f(0) = 1$, which gives $C = 1$. Therefore, the function $f(x)$ is $f(x) = e^x$.

The Political Parade

WASHINGTON, June 7

How closely this humane American policy accords with HEARST POLICY is made clear by the republication herewith of an editorial letter by Mr. Hearst, which was published in the Hearst newspapers on February 13, 1938.

To the Editor of the Boston Evening American:

But since there are such nations, in fact since all nations would probably use these frightful methods, and possibly be forced into using them unless there are firmly established rules to prevent, the immediate necessity of changing fundamentally the method and practice of warfare is obvious.

But we have been utterly unwilling to see the United States join a league of nations and be a minority member of any combination of foreign nations, the majority of which could control the action of the United States and the policy of the United States—and not merely on a specific proposition, but on any proposition which might come before this conclave of foreign nations.

I do not think our papers should stop with inactive advocacy of this proposal. They should labor in every way to cause and create this congress, and to secure the adoption of a civilized and humanitarian international code of effective law.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Attorney-General Homer S. Cummings is absent from Washington, and will not return until early next week. It was not disclosed whether a report from U. S. Attorney Hardy has been made to him, or has been requested. No comment on the New York case was obtainable at the German embassy.

You could feel the lusty admiration of the interviewer as he gushed over the unexpected literacy of his subject's reply...

"That's fine," said the interviewer, and you could sense him say, "Brilliant really. A marvelous summing-up of the situation, my friend. It was really excellent."

Yes, it was, rather, came the unexpected, unorthodox departure from the modest role most of these interviewers play when they are praised. "It was sort of brilliant," it had cause to be. You know, my good chap, I've had eight scotch and sodas since luncheon.

MR. BOSTON

Longwood Tennis } Cheerio! National Title Tourney } Sporting Club

By JACK CONWAY

WINSLOW BLANCHARD, chairman of the Massachusetts State singles tennis championship which will open at the Longwood Cricket Club on Saturday, informs me that the entire Canadian Davis Cup team will compete.

Mr. Boston

It is the first time that the Massachusetts tournament has been made an open affair. This condition has attracted many brilliant tennis players from outside of the state.

The Canadian Davis Cup team is composed of Robert D. Murray, Canadian champion; Laird Watt, co-holder of the U. S. Father & Son doubles title, Ross Wilson and Doug Cameron.

Richard Murphy, last year's Massachusetts singles champion, has moved to the mid-West and will not compete, and as a result a new title holder will be crowned.

Paul Guibord, runner-up last year and one of the stars in the Hearst All-America tennis tournament, has sent in his entry, and will strive to gain the championship. Guibord is a fast, brilliant player, and has a splendid variety of shots. In the Hearst All-America tournament, Guibord went to the finals which were held in California. He came through with flying colors in the New England and All-Eastern finals.

TENNIS, despite its scoring system of 40 love, is one of the most strenuous of athletic pastimes. I rate it next to four-mile cross racing. I still maintain there is not any form of athletics as exacting on the competitor as four-mile cross racing. Ask any of the young men in the Harvard crew, and I believe they will agree with me.

Tennis calls for endurance, speed, quick thinking and the highest type of athletic competition.

Interest in tennis has grown during the past ten years. The great professional tournament headed by Bill Tilden and other stars have proved that the top ranking players can commercialize their talents if they wish to do so.

The New England section of the Hearst All-America tournament last summer had more than 1300 entries. This set a new high for this type of tournament.

Dave Niles, who is in search of new talent for the American Davis Cup team, tells me many promising youngsters are being developed in New England. Many of Dave's brightest stars will compete in the championship tournament that gets underway at Longwood on Saturday.

Golf Having Successful Season

DESPITE RACING and baseball, golf is having a successful season. When horse racing first came to New England, the various golf clubs suffered heavy losses. Many members who formerly played golf two and three times during the week only visited the links on Sundays. The novelty of horse racing has lost some of its appeal to dyed-in-the-wool golfers, and they now spend most of their spare time on the links. They may visit the track once a week, but at other times they are trying to break par.

This is a healthier condition for both golf and racing. It makes it possible for the golf clubs to prosper, and also eliminates opposition to racing by those groups that own the golf clubs.

Golf has grown in popularity each year, and now millions of people play the game. The fact the game appeals to both the young and the old gives it a rating as a real national pastime.

I HAVE received an invitation from John E. Harding to visit with him at the new quarters of the National Sporting Club in London. For generations the National Sporting Club has held the unique position of being England's leading gathering place for sportsmen and champions. It has numbered among its membership many members of the nobility.

The Marquis of Queensberry is still one of the directors of the club. Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey is chairman. The Earl of Brecknock and Sir Noel Curtis-Bennett are also directors of this exclusive organization.

It was at the National Sporting Club that Sam Langford, Paddy McFarland, Eddie McGoorty, Jimmy Britt, Pete Herman and Gunboat Smith appeared when they showed in England. Langford was always a tremendous card in England, and won most of his bouts there by knockouts.

Georges Carpentier, Owen Moran, Jim Driscoll, Tommy Burns, Jimmy Wilde, Pedlar Palmer, Peter Jackson and Frank Craig also boxed at the National Sporting Club.

The Duke of Windsor when Prince of Wales could usually be found in a ring-side seat on the night of an important bout. The Prince of Wales once visited the dressing room of Jimmy Wilde, and got the latter to consent to enter the ring with Pete Herman despite a weight difference.

Wilde had previously refused to box. The Prince of Wales left his seat at the ringside, and made a personal appeal to Wilde to overlook the weight difference and to box. Wilde readily consented to do so.

The National Sporting Club always insisted upon keeping boxing on a high plane of sportsmanship. There was a period when this club didn't permit its referee to enter the ring during the progress of a bout. After giving the boxers their instructions, the referee would retire to a seat at the ringside from where he would direct the contest. English ring officials have always insisted that boxers live up to all of the rules, and have never hesitated to disqualify a contestant who has made a flagrant violation of the rules.

It is my hope that one of these days I shall be able to drop in at the National Sporting Club's new quarters at 105, Piccadilly, W. 1.

Miss Verry Folds on Home Nine

By BILL GRIMES

BELMONT COUNTRY CLUB, June 7.—Along with Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Oakley, five-time winner, Miss Deborah Verry, Tatnuck, the defending title holder, passed out of the 38th Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts championship this morning at the Belmont Country Club.

Mrs. H. F. Prunaret, Jr., Charles River, eliminated Miss Verry 3 and 1. They were nip and tuck during the outward nine and were all even at the turn. Then Mrs. Prunaret started home 4-4-3-5 and was three up going to the 14th. From this point on the question was never in doubt as to the winner.

Miss Verry got back a hole at the 15th, despite the fact that she was out of bounds off the tee for Mrs. Prunaret took two shots in a trap.

Two down going to the 17th, Miss Verry pulled her first drive into the pond and wound up with a six, and at the same time she put the state crown back in circulation.

4-HOLE ADVANTAGE

Mrs. Warren Beard, the ex-champion, piled up a four-hole lead over Mrs. Baker by carding a 39 going out, but the Oakley veteran pulled herself together and managed to hold the match in until the 16th green, where she yielded to a 3 to 2 defeat.

Mrs. John Grew, Dedham, the 1933 champion, staged a remarkable comeback and beat Miss Ruth Batcherfield, the Country Club, at the 19th hole.

Mrs. Grew was three down at the end of nine holes. Miss Batcherfield going to the turn in 42. Mrs. Grew finally squared the match at the 18th and moved into the third round by winning the first extra hole.

WINS ON 20TH

In the other extra-hole match Mrs. Willie Howard, Charles River, eliminated Mrs. Harriet E. Ferris at the 20th hole. Mrs. Howard was two up at the turn, but Mrs. Ferris held on and managed to pull up on even terms by a win at the 18th. Then they were "flat" at the 19th, but Mrs. Howard holed a putt for a four and a win at the 20th.

Miss Alice Belanger, the junior champion of the state, gave Miss Laura Robbins a battle for nine holes then the little Weston lass began to click and came through with a 5 and 3 victory.

CLOSE BATTLE

Miss Rosamond Vahey, a three-time winner of this title, had to struggle to get through Miss Frances Parson, Weston. The former champion was three up at the turn, negotiating the out nine in

Feller Due To Face Sox Tomorrow

Cleveland's classy Indians, boasting a three-game lead in the American League race and a 4 1/2 game margin over our Red Sox, open a three-game series at the Fens this afternoon.

The showing of the Forest City entry under Oscar Vitt has been a big surprise to the experts this far.

Expected, like so many Cleveland clubs in the past, to crack on the road, this outfit hung on very well during its first Eastern trip and arrives here now after having won series in Philadelphia and Washington.

The acid test for the visitors, however, comes in the engagement here and is a three-game series in New York immediately following.

If the Red Sox pitch Johnny Allen today, Bob Feller tomorrow and Mel Harder in the Thursday tilt, that's the greatest three-man staff in the league.

There's a strong possibility that Moses Gress will duel Feller tomorrow.

Ross Predicts
For Armstrong

CHICAGO, June 7 (AP).—Barney Ross, who lost his world's welterweight boxing title to Henry Armstrong last week, doesn't expect Armstrong to last more than a year as welter ruler if he fights several bouts which go the full 15 rounds.

"His type of fighter burns out early," said Ross. "They keep up a terrific pace for a time and then go all at once. The human body can't stand up under that strain very long."

"Armstrong has the upper body of a middleweight and mauls his opponents every second. I couldn't keep him off. I don't think he was any tougher than Jimmy McLarnin when McLarnin was at his best, but it's hard to say. He fought a great battle and deserved the victory."

Cunningham, Lash, Romani to Meet

PRINCETON, N. J., June 7 (INS).—The mile run of the fifth annual Princeton invitation track meet Saturday, June 18, will bring together Archie San Romani, Don Lash and Glenn Cunningham, Asa Bushnell, director of the meet, announced last night.

Competing also in the eight-furlong test will be Jose F. Meester of Belgium, Blaine Hildeout of Texas State Teachers' College, and Peter Bradley, captain of the Princeton track team. It will be the debut in a Princeton invitation meet of Meester, holder of the world record in the three-quarter mile with 3:00.4.

Dooley to Be Named 'Gansett President

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 7—

Judge James E. Dooley will be elected president of the Narragansett Racing Association at its annual meeting on June 20, it was indicated today.

Dooley, Dooley, vice-president, has been acting as president of the Narragansett Racing Association since Walter E. O'Hara stepped out of office.

Judge Dooley has the united backing of the group now in control. The summer meeting at Narragansett Park will open on August 1.

The third allotment of stalls for the Narragansett meeting will be placed in the mails today, taking care of the advance guard of a strong Canadian contingent due to invade New England.

Heading the Canuck contenders will be the Parkwood Stables of R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada. Trainer Frank Gilpin will bring 20 horses here to race in the blue and white Parkwood colors.

J. E. Seagram is shipping ten head, H. R. Bain of Toronto, who sent Rock Lad to run in the last Grand National at Liverpool, is shipping his entire stable, and Mrs. T. Stevenson is sending nine good ones headed by Tempestuous, in charge of Trainer Frank Ray.

Frank A. Carreau, a Texan who is no stranger to New England turf followers, plans to ship here immediately after the closing of the present meeting at Ingleswood, Cal.

Two Referees For Arena Bouts

Two referees instead of one have been selected for the melee tomorrow night between Otto Shultz, German grappler, and Paddy O'Day, new Irish sensation. This would indicate that there is going to be plenty of excitement tomorrow night at the Boston Arena when the two clash.

Dick Turner, the inter-collegiate star, who made a tremendous hit at the Arena two weeks ago, has been signed to meet Mickie Travers, Columbia Ace matman in a special bout.

Budge Pressed In Paris Match

Owen Anderson, a comparative unknown from Hollywood, finally was knocked out of the tournament by Christian Bousquet of France, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2.

Schoolboy Parade—Striding up Park street, 17,000 high and intermediate school cadets keep step to the music of some 22 bands, 14 drum and bugle corps and eight fife and drum corps, while the cheers of packed streets echo in their ears. Here, under the State House dome, is shown a section of the marchers.

17,000 Boys Boy Wades In 'Parade To Death Of Peace' In River

A youthful army for peace and freedom, not for war and oppression, Boston's high and intermediate school cadets, 17,000 strong, marched in clear-eyed array through downtown streets today.

Perfect June weather brought out one of the largest crowds ever to witness the annual parade of the schoolboy companies. Police estimated the crowd at 400,000 to 450,000.

Vivid colors of the flags that headed the four-mile-long khaki column contrasted effectively with the cloudless blue of the sky.

With hundreds watching the drama, a 15-year-old boy, a policeman, firemen and two doctors battled for more than an hour today at Cottage Farm bridge in a vain attempt to save an unidentified boy from death by drowning.

The unidentified boy, between 8 and 10 years old, had been wading in the Charles River beneath Cottage Farm bridge and the railroad trestle which passes under the bridge.

Suddenly he was seen by other boys to step into deep water and disappear.

Cries of the boys on shore attracted 15-year-old Frank Bragan of 805 Washington street, South End, who was riding by on his bicycle in Cambridge.

Bragan leaped off the machine, stripped off his sweater and began diving at a spot designated by the other boys.

Meanwhile, calls had been sent to Cambridge police and firemen.

After repeated dives, young Bragan found the body on the river bottom, 20 feet under the surface. The firemen worked over the boy with an inhalator.
